

Codfish with olive oil in the oven and roasted potatoe: Pato Frio Antão Vaz

For a perfect matching with this dish we suggest our Pato Frio Antão Vaz. The most traditional fish in Portugal is the Codfish. It's a low fat fish, demanding in salt, unctuous body and intense flavour. A dish like this requires a structured wine, intense and with a well-marked acidity to balance with the juicy dish. The salt present in the dish will increase the aromatic potential of the wine, making overhang even more the citrus notes in particular the green apple.